LIKE A BOOK

If i sign X you wouldn't know who I was and i will sign Henry

IFE is like a book and on each page are written the events—gay, serious, great, small, important, or unimportant that comprise everyday living.

Each morning brings forth a new page on which to inscribe the day's interests. The swift-moving events of international importance take their places beside the more common occurrences of community living. The perplexing math problem of the hour may be the engineer's dream of tomorrow; the experiment in science today may lead to happiness for thousands in a distant future; the poem read in class may find rebirth in a song that will touch mankind; the dance programs carefully pasted in scrap books become happy memories.

The 1948 Pilot Staff has attempted to catch the spirit of daily happenings that become a record of learning for living and leisure for learning.

*Dear Tom,
Your meeting was sweet and fresh. Lots of fun. Be good and don't ever get your homework or in line.
Lots of love,
Harmon Schwartz!*

THE Engebretson's are one of Murray's favorite families, and whoever knows them understands Coach Ralph Engebretson's pride in his wife, daughter Judy, and the promising quarterback, Bill.

To all students at Murray, "Coach" is a person who represents true sportsmanship and friendliness. Boys who are privileged to work with him on various teams know him as a good friend, an excellent leader, and a shrewd judge of sports. The rest of the student body know him for his lively pep talks, his cheery smile in the halls, and his genuine pleasure in all that happens.

Coach Ralph Engebretson took time out during World War II to do his bit in the Navy as a lieutenant (sg). He elected to return to coaching and teaching because he likes young people. And grateful indeed are Murray students for his choice. Coach Engebretson has not shown interest in Murray's athletic program alone; he has manifested his enthusiasm in all activities of all departments of the school.

As we record the pages of our life at Murray, we feel privileged indeed to dedicate this 1948 Pilot to Ralph Engebretson and his charming family.

Accompanied by the stirring call of trumpets, the thunder of the basses, and the piping of the flutes, the Murray Band marched splendidly through the season attired in trim new uniforms. All through the fall, teachers plaintively complained of the din of the band trudging back and forth in front of the building, and students glanced frequently out of the windows. These glances at best were hardly reassuring. The marchers seemed to be wandering about looking completely lost. No one ever quite figured out how, on the night of the game, that group of cold and bewildered practicers was transformed into a straight-ranked, compact marching band able to execute complicated manoeuvres. Through every pep assembly and game this gallant outfit proudly supported our championship team.

ON PARADE

Although the members of the band had to become accustomed to a new style of directing this year, it didn't keep them from turning out some very sharp concerts. Mr. Heron's popularity with his "musicians" enabled band and director to work together in the kind of close harmony that spells enjoyment for all who listen. One of the band's hardest tasks was the Thanksgiving Parade when they marched in near-blizzard weather and were slightly handicapped by instruments which were frozen stiff and solid. The highlight of the year was, of course, the spring concert. Everyone loved the crashing overtures and poignant show tunes. We are all proud to look upon the Murray Band and call it "ours."

*Hi Tom Branche was telling me what a roundy you are in Albert car.

Learning is Living

MJ Sea

Another Day, Another Page

Today learning in itself is an experience that is a vital part of everyday living, and that experience may be something accomplished in terms of a completed assignment, information gained from participation in a forum, work done for an extra-curricular activity, or facts learned through long hours of study and research.

Whatever the experience, if it enriches our knowledge of working and co-operating in a modern world, it is an experience in learning for living.

Leisure is Learning

It's the Rhythm of Living

Leisure is as necessary to a well-rounded life as is food and shelter. Music, art, dancing, canteen, sports, and parties all help to foster the social side of our lives so important to us when we continue our education or become employed.

Youth is a time to laugh and be gay; to find in the school play, the operetta, the club initiations, the homecoming, the games, the J.S., memorable moments that write themselves indelibly on life's pages.

Leisure is more than gaiety—it is in itself a process of learning.

Pilots Re-live Glories of

... And what a season to remember! It will be a long time before future grid teams and fans will be more thrilled and happy than were the 1947 Pilot football team and the ardent supporters when the final conference game ended 31-6 in favor of Murray over Marshall.

The road to the City championship was not a smooth one, for the ten competing high schools played bang-up football. Coach Ralph Engebretson's team took each game in stride, dropping only one contest.

Murray entered the gridiron competition as a team "building for next year." The first game gave sports writers and fans a different idea as Coach Engebretson's boys took Mechanic Arts 13-7 and dominated seventy per cent of the play.

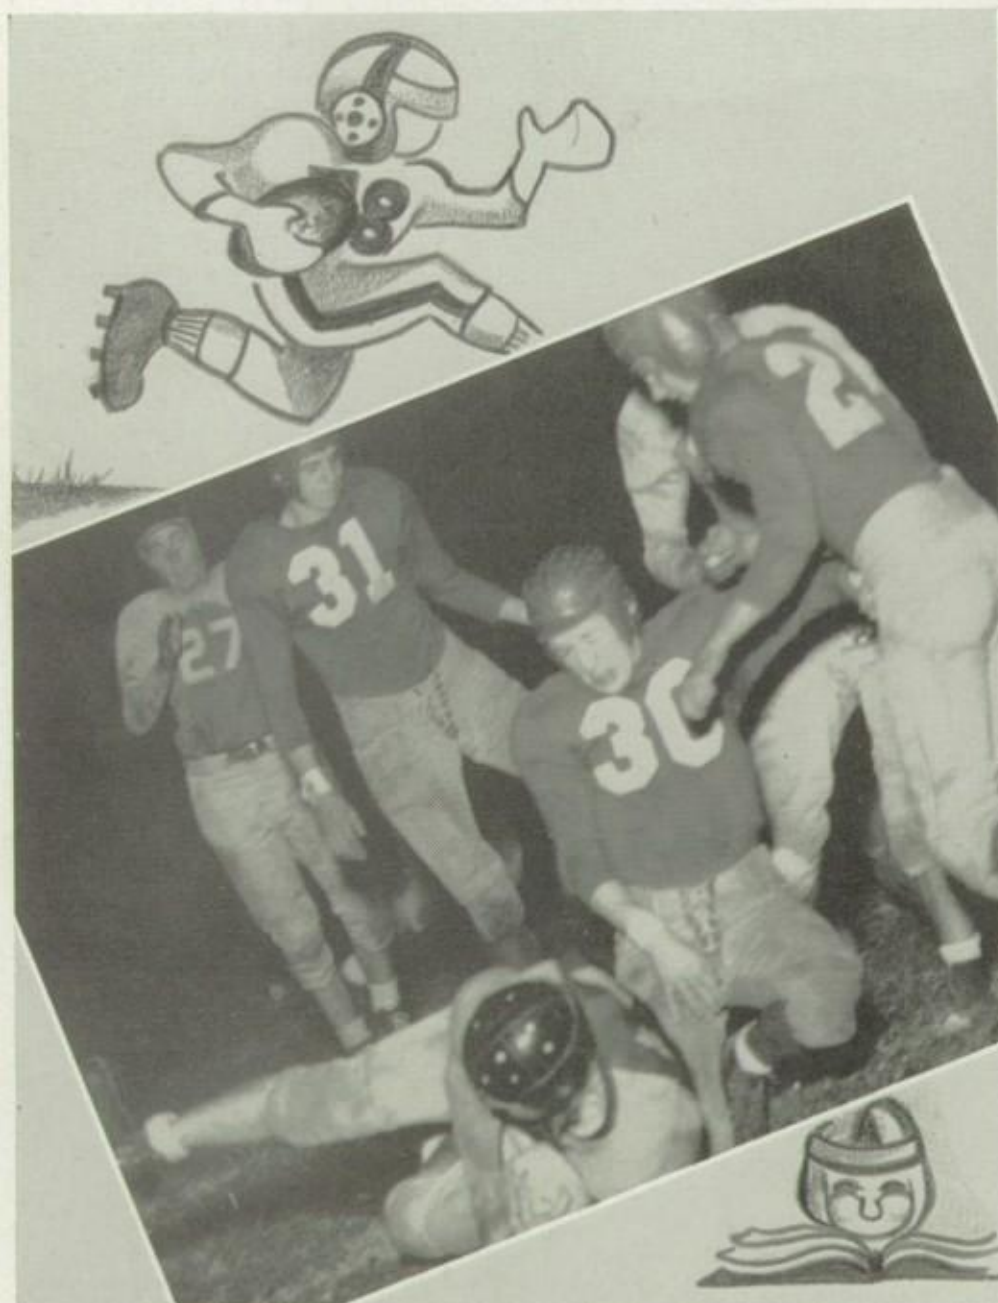

By the time the Harding team was scheduled to meet Murray, the Pilot linemen were making it possible for the backfield to get in some tricky plays to defeat the Harding Maroons 19-6.

The Washington Presidents were next to feel the power of the Murray line and to see the speed of its backfield. A 20-0 score gave Murray a decided edge in the conference race.

It took an inspired and well-trained Johnson team to trim the Pilots' sails as the Governors caught the Murray boys in a slump. The surprising Pilot eleven came back looking like professionals to wallop Monroe in what was supposed to be the battle of the year, 20-0.

Scoring early in the Central-Murray game, the Pilots seemed set for an easy victory, but the Minutemen of Central were determined to stop the championship-bound Pilots. A last minute touchdown saved the game for Murray, and the last barrier, Marshall, was taken in true championship stride.

Here is a tense moment in the Murray-Harding game as "Red" Nelson goes across for the second touchdown of the game. He is ably assisted by Tom Zwiener (27).

One of the famous shots of the season is this one which finds "Red" Nelson doing some fancy acrobatic work as he literally "lands" on the goal line in the Murray-Central game.

Murray players Tom Zwiener (27), Bob Steveken (41), Bob Gordenier (37), Jerry Christensen (52), and Chuck Hinzman (48), all have a try here at downing the Harding Maroons on the run.

Gallant Murray Team Bows

A rousing pep assembly honoring the city-title holders was held the day following the Marshall-Murray game. True to the fine tradition of good sportsmanship, the boys took their honors in stride—a round of entertainment following the Murray-Minneapolis South game lasted into early December.

A victory banquet was given by American Legion Post No. 8 on December 8, with Mr. M. W. Knoblauch as general chairman. Each team member was presented with a "championship" sweat shirt. The Kiwanis club of St. Paul played host at a luncheon honoring the Pilot eleven.

The All-City eleven chosen by coaches of the ten high schools further honored Murray's gridiron warriors Tom Zwiener, Gordon Lindgren, Ralph De Young, Dick Kensler, and Red Nelson.

Behind the spectacular runs, the trick plays, and the strong line were the inspiration and training given by Coach Ralph Engebretson.

Following the final conference game, the team bore down on practices, for on their shoulders rested the responsibility of bringing the Twin City Title to this side of the river.

To Minneapolis South

It was Murray's day but not Murray's score when the Pilots met the Minneapolis South Tigers in the Twin City classic November 6, 1947. Fans who witnessed the game will never forget the quick, successive thrusts that gave South a two touchdown edge in the first quarter.

While Murray fans may have had a few moments of discouragement, the team did not know the meaning of defeat. From the first quarter on, Murray began to make itself known to the Tigers, and the entire last half was Murray's game. Penetrating deep into South's territory, the Pilots were unable to score except for Porky McGroarty who slashed through right guard on a T land-off from Tom Zwiener to score from the 12 yard line.

Hard running and hard hitting marked the game as the Murray line did a fine job in stopping South's highly touted runners.

No alibis—fumbles as usual were costly—but the score 12-6 only tells half of the story of Murray's gallant stand.

Not to be forgotten is the Rooters Club of Murray that added gay color as well as sound effects to a gray November day.

Don't we look happy? Just see the smile on Coach Engebretson's face and get a look at Red Nelson's grin as he proudly shows the places where the missing teeth should be. . . . Tom Zwiener's eyes are as big as saucers, and Gordy Lindgren wonders if it is true—It is boys—you look the part of happy warriors here!

Basketball Gives Fans a Lively Season

● Both Murray and Johnson are stretching high to get the ball in a tense moment.

● Action and plenty of it is portrayed in Red Nelson's expression as he tries hard to get the ball.

Well-stocked with returning regulars, the Murray basketball team commenced an auspicious season with the defeat of Wilson in their first conference game. The newly-clad Pilot men charged down the floor time after time to win from the Redmen 38-36.

A disappointing reversal of this beginning came the following week when Central took the honors 31-25. An off night on gift tossers by the Gold and Blue quintet made the difference in the score. It is to be said to the credit of Coach George Rose's boys that the first three quarters showed the Murray men giving a top performance.

Washington, in the succeeding game, proved too powerful for the Pilots, as the City Champs from Rice Street came through in the final quarter to make victory inevitable with their excellent display of shooting.

Led by the Pilots' red-headed terror, Ron Nelson, Murray hit the victory trail as they conquered Harding 40-39 in a game that was too close for Murray fans to appreciate as the final minutes ticked away.

Murray could not withstand the wake of Jim Fritsche's famed shooting as the Pilots lost their third game of the season. Murray did a whirlwind style of play to keep the margin so close when one considers the fame of Humboldt's Fritsche.

Johnson and Marshall, employing fast breaks, both came through with identical scores over the Blue and Gold to win 50-26.

The Murray-Monroe game set a new record in total points for both teams—with the Greenies getting 60 of the 108-point total.

Mechanic Arts, despite brilliant play by Norm Ry-nard, Jim Lovdahl, and Lindsay Christlieb, made the closing chapter of the season a defeat for the Pilots.

Coach George Rose's prospects for 1948-1949 are excellent as several of this year's "A" and "B" squad players will be seasoned for the conference race.

● Two of Murray's stars of the past season were Norm Rynard and Lindsay Christlieb. Norm took Murray's scoring honors with a total of 79 points, and Lindsay made the most points in a single conference game as he scored 19 points against Monroe.

● "Get it, boys"! Both Murray and Wilson are trying their best to follow the instructions of their fans. And it looks as if Murray is successful in this jump for the rebound.

Hockey Team Thrills Fans

The fifth place Murray hockey team missed the play-offs when Johnson beat Washington in the last five seconds in the final game of the year.

The pucksters started out the season with a 2-0 shut-out win over Central. Malmquist starred with a goal and an assist.

The Trainers proved to be a well rounded team as they handed the Pilots their first defeat, 4-2. Harding, after having been held scoreless for two periods, slashed in a much disputed goal in the last period and ended the game in a 2-2 tie. The 3-0 defeat at the hands of the Johnson Governors ended all Pilot hopes of a chance at the title.

Three quick goals by Murray rinkmen gave them a 3-2 win over Monroe. Ending up the season in true fighting spirit the pucksters slashed in six goals against Marshall's one for their greatest triumph.

Murray's cindermen are proud of the record of one of their members, Bob Christensen, who won the individual championship in the city cross country meet and went on to place third in the state event.

Altogether the fall of 1947 was a banner one for the Pilots in cross country. Under the able generalship of Mal Shurtleff, a graduate student at the University Farm School and an instructor in plant pathology, the Murray boys did a big job in coming to the foreground in cross country. By practicing and training religiously under Mr. Shurtleff, a former Rhode Island cross country star, the Pilots were the surprise of the league in setting standards for high caliber cross country.

The team placed fourth in the city and eleventh in the state meets respectively. Paul Testor is the only senior member, and that means a well-trained group ready for the fall.

Bob Christensen Wins First in Cross Country

With the addition of Chuck Grose, who was ineligible this year because he elected to work with the football squad, the team members are making plans to win the city championship next year.

In order to keep the record clear, the losses to Washington, Monroe, Johnson, and Central involved the strength of the entire team.

Bob Joseph was the surprise of the team as he placed seventh in the city meet even though he had been spiked at the start of the race.

Following the close of the season, the team held a banquet at the Curtis Hotel with Coaches Ralph Engebretson, George Rose, and Mal Shurtleff as guests.

Individuals Star In Track Meets

The 1947 track team found the competition keen, but Coach Ralph Engebretson's boys did turn in a stellar performance by rounding out an undefeated season in dual meets.

Murray's defeat of Harding 58-53 opened the year with several Pilots taking firsts. Mechanic Arts made it a tie with Murray while the Pilots defeated Wilson 68-44. Murray's half-mile relay team consisting of Wally Bell, Red Raymond, Bob Steveken, and Cal Heuer, ran the event in 1:42.3. The Pilot hurdlers took sweeps in both the 120 and 200 yard hurdles.

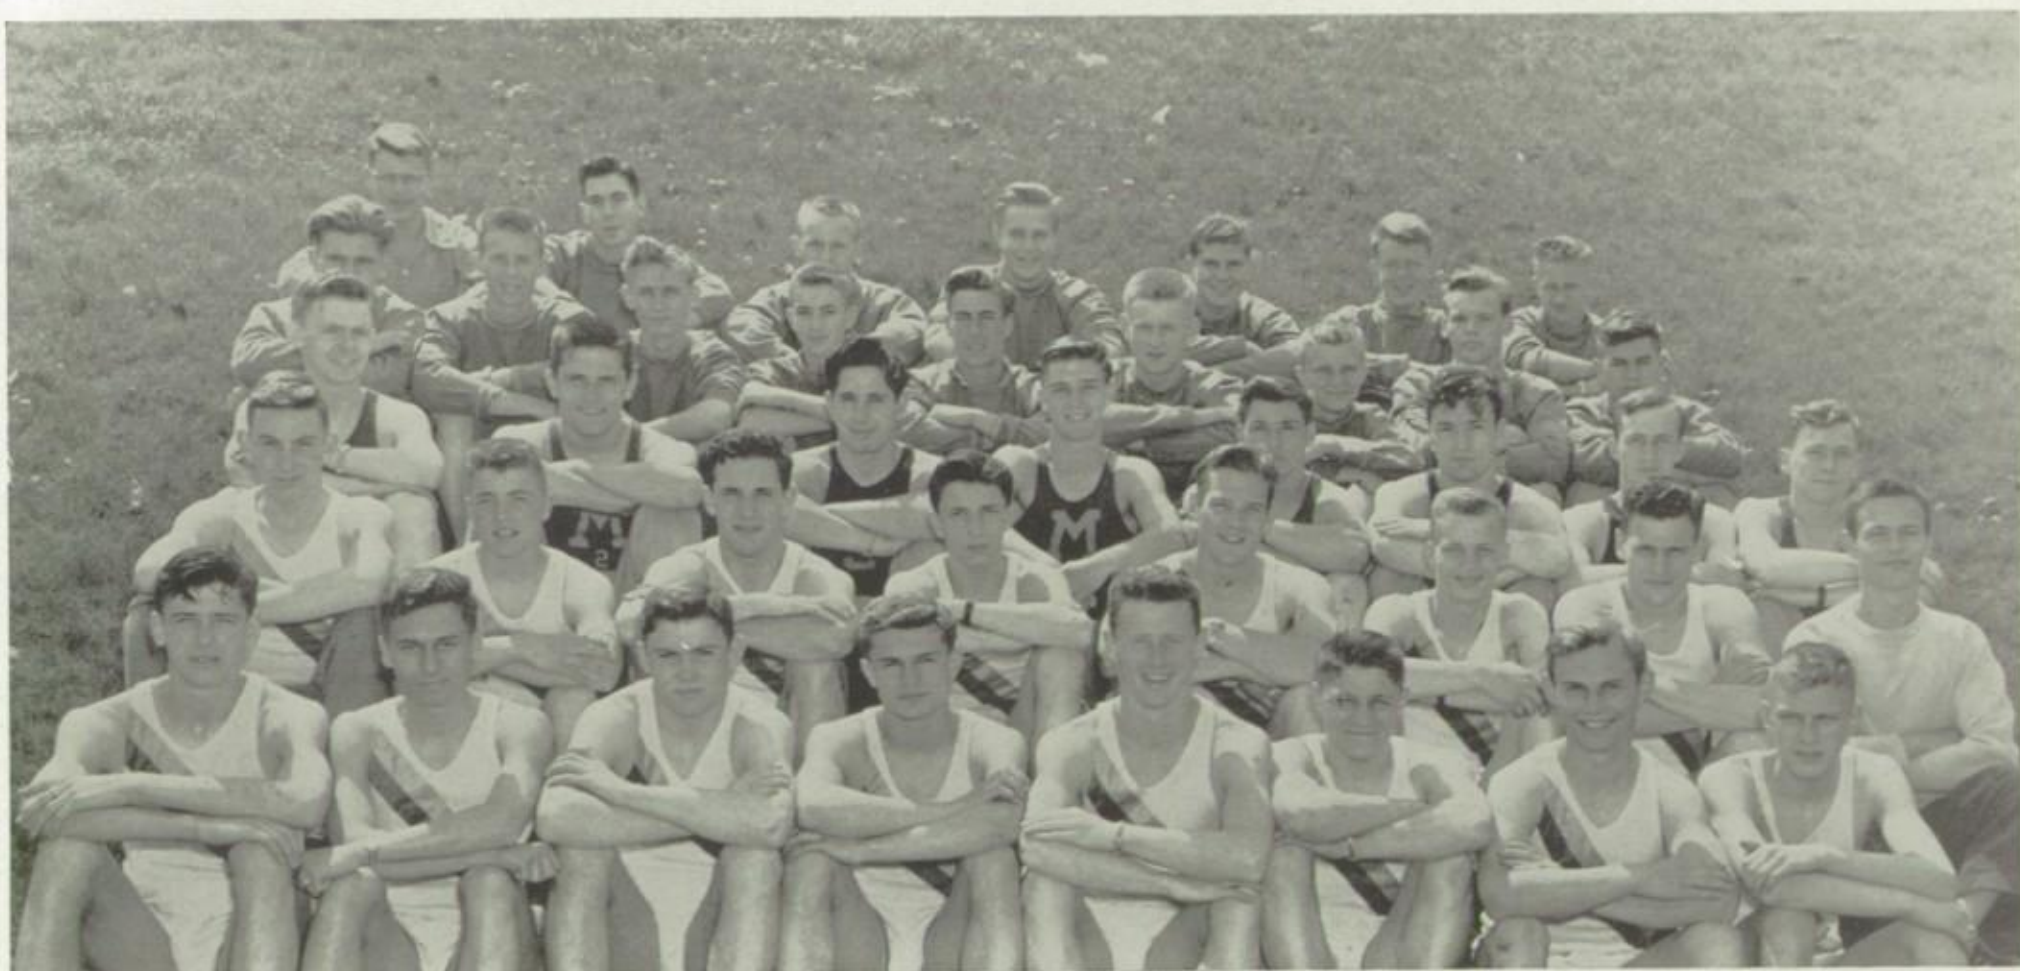

Murray took fourth place in the High School Relay Carnival with Murray's relay team placing in four events.

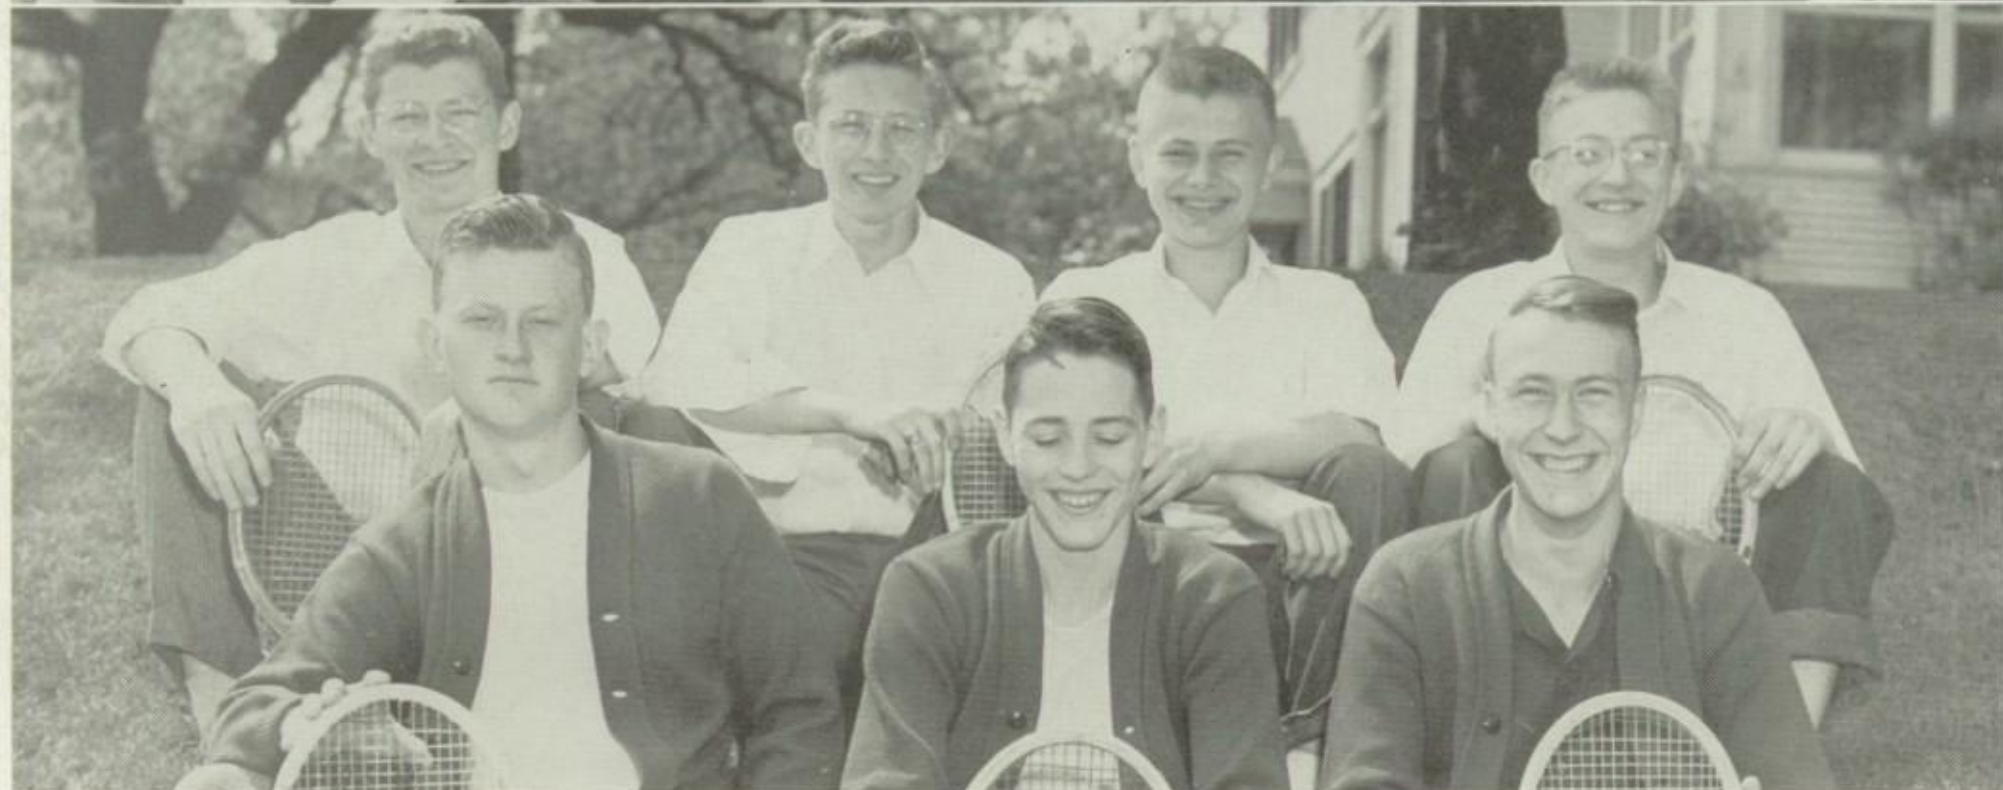

Gaining points in the St. Paul Track Meet were the stars of the season: Red Raymond, second, 100-yard-dash; Karl Koenke, third, 440-yard-dash, and fourth, high jump; Joe Horvath, fifth, pole vault; Wally Bell, fourth, 220-yards low hurdles. Red Raymond represented Murray in the State Meet.

Karl Koenke, Murray's high jump and 440-yard dash star, is shown warming up for an important race.

Linkmen, Netmen

Finishing off a rather rough start, the Pilot courtsters swept the last four games of the conference to finish in fourth place. The first game of the season gave the Pilots the edge over Washington 5-0.

Johnson drew first blood when they downed Murray 4-0. Central followed through to defeat the Grantham Street boys 4-1. Humboldt's city champions, led by Bill Genberding, gave the Pilots their third straight setback, 4-1.

Finally snapping the streak, the Murray boys outclassed Wilson 5-0 and then took Monroe, 4-1. The Pilot netmen rode out the season on a victory as they won by virtue of a forfeit over Harding 1-0.

Since 1942 Murray's golf teams have been trying for a repeat performance of that banner year. The 1947 followers of the game found the Pilots splitting the season with four wins against four defeats.

In the City Golf Match Dick Mallory walked off with fourth place honors. He was the only Murray player to qualify.

The opening game of April 28 was dropped to Central 12-3, and Washington made it a second Pilot defeat 12½-1½. The Pilots came through with their first victory by whipping Marshall 14½-½. Johnson, an old rival, edged Murray 8½-6½. Other scores included Murray-Harding, 9-6; Murray-Mechanics, 15-0; Murray-Monroe, 3-12; Murray-Wilson, 11½-3½.

Coach George Rose had anything but a dull season in baseball as the Murray nine made victories for the opponents hard to win. Although the team finished in fourth place, the close scores really tell the story of a very lively team.

Preconference games found Murray exchanging gifts with Minneapolis Roosevelt. In the first game it was Roosevelt 1- Murray 0, while Jack Anderson pitched his Pilots to a 7-4 win over the Teddies in the return game.

In the conference game with Johnson, Norm Rynard pitched in nearly perfect ball as he allowed Johnson only one hit. Breaking a fourth inning deadlock, Marshall won 5-1 for Murray's first loss.

Washington shut out Murray for a pitching duel 1-0, and Mechanics followed through to defeat the Pilots 5-4. The fatal seventh inning again plagued Murray when Central took the Pilots 5-4.

Murray downed Wilson 5-2 behind the four-hit pitching of Norm Rynard. The Pilots combined three singles, an error, and a fielder's choice to score four runs in the top half of the first inning and rolled to an easy victory.

Murray claimed a share of fourth place as they downed Monroe in the final contest of the season 4-3. Jack Anderson and Jack Sorenson pitched their final high school game.

- Dick Holmsten hits and fouls as the ball goes outside the base line.
- Another hit! This time Jack Anderson connects with a good one.

Tankmen are Proud

It was free style in more ways than one for Murray's tankmen as they completed a season with four wins and five losses. Handicapped as usual by the lack of any place to practice, the boys made the best of their difficulties and did show good exhibition work and form.

The diving expert was Grant Warfield who is fast becoming a promising city star. All events were held at the Wilder Pool and co-captains were Jim Harmon and Bob Prodger. It was unfortunate that the team had to miss the support of Jim Harmon part of the season because of illness.

The year's record stands:

| | Murray |
|---------------------|--------|
| Mechanic Arts | 39-31 |
| Humboldt | 33-21 |
| Central | 21-54 |
| Johnson | 25-49 |
| Washington | 21-52 |
| Wilson | 33-32 |
| Marshall | 22-52 |
| Harding | 37-29 |
| Monroe | 30-37 |

And Now Comes Leisure

- Box office attractions were Janis Thieme, Carl Johnson, Ronald Lokken, Allan Arnason, Jeannette Posch, and Judy Stopf who supplied many thrills and chills in the Senior Class Play, "Home Sweet Homicide."

- Behind the scenes Don Anderson and Beverly Murphy make up Dean Rasmussen.

- "Love, oh, love! I hope it isn't catching," groans Kenny Carlson to Janet Lehman, George Semple, Don Pickering, Marilyn Matteson, Jerry Christensen, and Ruth Fortmeyer in "Home Sweet Homicide."

- "It is over!" shout the newly initiated members of the Library Club after the ceremonies, both serious and otherwise, are over. To celebrate, L.C. provides cokes and doughnuts. Shown enjoying the aftermath are Alfred Nelson, Bob Rutford, David Rutford, Bob Christensen, and Bob Joseph.

● The Book Week Tea is always a delightful social affair where Library Club members play hosts to parents and friends. Preceding "tea time" guests listen to reviews, given by L.C. members, of the latest books.

● Pens run dry—pencil leads break in the excitement of Pilot Day. Exchanging farewell ditties for future reminiscing are Lloyd Mulligan, Fern Juckel, Dick Erickson, Don Money, and Kay Horeish.

● Marion Pfutzenreuter, homecoming queen candidate, gets a showy display during the campaign on the car of Dick Kensler, who was king of the festivities. Campaigning with him are Gayle Determan, Bob Gordenier, and Dick Lantz.

● A cheery smile is always met when visiting the candy lady, Mrs. Pearl Stiles, and her son, Dennis. Paul Testor, Ruth Netland, Lucille Hanson, David Thayer, and Margaret Winters have gathered for this triple treat.

When Activities Fill Our

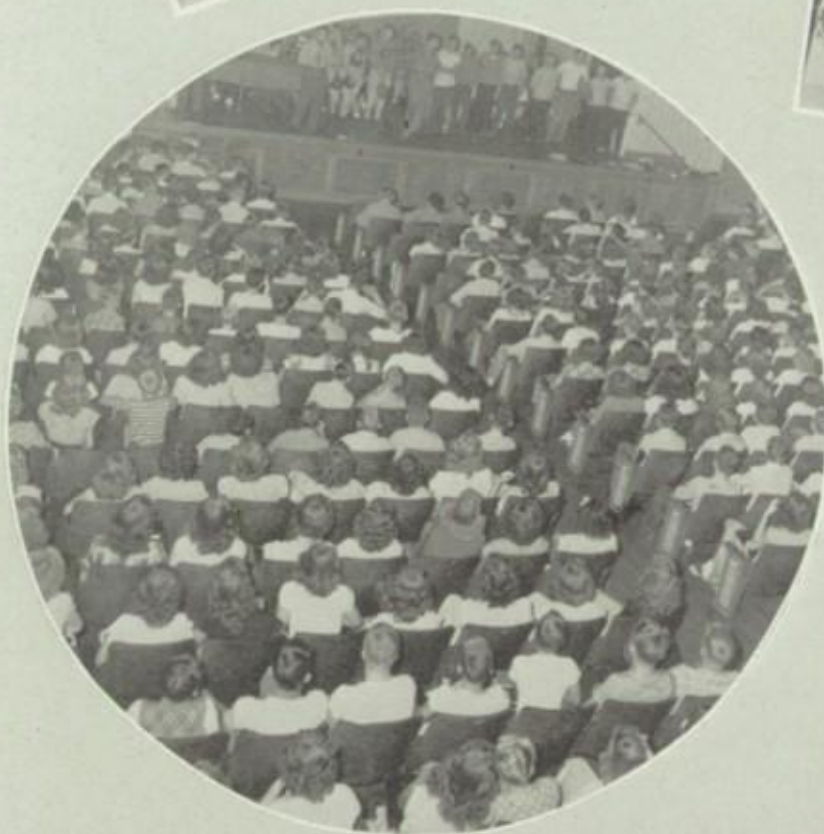

Homecoming! What a week of activity! Posters and campaigns, tired managers and beaming beautiful girls, tension and suspense—all go toward making a favorable choice for queen of the football season.

Managers Ken Carlson, Warren Jensen, Gene Peterson, Allan Arnason, Calvin Barck, and Wally Bell, take time out to have their picture taken before going on with their campaigning.

The six lovelies who were honored to run for queen are Louise Weigt, Ruth Fortmeyer, Marion Pfutzenreuter, Rita Dressler, Barbara Grove, and Judy Stopf.

Hours of Pleasure

- Football championships cannot be won without proper diet. Shirley Bjorndahl and Connie Kellermann are checking up on Marv Lundgren and Bob Steveken.
- Cheer and good will come from the voices of choir members as they carol during the yuletide season. Every year during the Christmas season the music classes carol throughout the halls spreading the yuletide spirit.
- Assemblies which are a part of the school curriculum are enjoyed by everyone. Some of these assemblies are for the students' entertainment; at others, information is gleaned from speakers who are invited to the school.
- Drum Majorettes, Sally Sabkowiak, Phyllis Moline, and Mary Lou Wollum, "strut their stuff" for the school band.

As We Turn

- Alice Perrin, Shirley Bjorndahl, Mary Curley, Allan Arnason, Janis Thieme, Beverly Podd, and Barbara Grove are participating in the candle-light ceremony which is part of the Quill and Scroll initiation.
- Walter Hughes, Gerald Knutson, Bob Johnson, and Gordon Tripp, seventh grade art students, draw posters for the Yuletide season.
- Lockers get cluttered up; so, time off is taken to clean up by Jud Harmon.
- Super salesman Allan Arnason is using his technique to sell Murray High School buttons to the eager new students as well as those who are old timers at Murray.
- It's a heartfelt song, "I Love You Truly", that Cupid's messengers, Art Kistler, Myla Medchill, and Owen Eckblom, are singing to Ronald Brunett and Jeanne Hahn. The Murcurie Singing Telegram Special Delivery Valentine Service gave many hearts a chance to throb with their singing epistles of love.

The Pages

- From all appearances Sadie Hawkins had her day at Murray. Contentedly Beverly Podd, Rhoda Manley, Joanne Peterson, Alice Egan, Judy Stopf, and Janis Thieme relax with their snares of the day, Kenny Carlson, Allan Arnason, Don Pickering, Dick Herschler, Lindsay Christlieb, and Bob Gordenier.
- Along with other students of Murray, Carl Johnson, Barbara Bjornstad, and Joyce Christesen have no intentions of forgetting the Veterans of Foreign Wars. They are purchasing forget-me-nots to help the Disabled Veterans.
- "Let's have a cheer, and make it clear!" yell Audrey Grove, Phyllis Dustin, James Bailey, Warren Jensen, Betty Matthews, and Nancie Bawdin as they rouse a lusty locomotive from Murray rosters.

Dear Tom
 Thanks for opening the window
 for me in hist.
 Lots of luck in the future

Of Our Record Book

- Birthday party cakes are the desserts during some of the lunch periods as students bring cakes to celebrate their birthdays. Janis Thieme cuts into her cake as her friends eagerly wait for their treat.
- The orchestra members under the direction of Mr. Alexander Heron gave a fine rendition of their talent at the performance of the operetta, "H. M. S. Pinafore."
- During and after school hours, activities at Murray would not be successful but for the ever constant help of the maintenance staff, C. F. Hauge, Mrs. Anna Jackson, Victor DeZeil, Ellen Seigler, and John Elmond.

At Murray

"Shine On Harvest Moon" is the theme-song of the Bow-tie Quartet. Dan Neale, Chuck Grose, Chuck Michaelson, and Bob Joseph with their accompanist, Sue Preus. Their flash bulb ties and stylish canes add showmanship technique to their many songs the assembly audiences have enjoyed.

Spreading yuletide cheer by selling Christmas cards, was undertaken jointly by the Library Club and Quill and Scroll. Bill Kellermann, Don Ausemus, Helen Finger, Joan Morgen, and Georgia Cook are looking over the boxes of samples which made this project a great financial success.

The ever-busy Camp Fire organization undertook the project of selling Christmas seals during the holidays. Representing Murray are Aloise Jones, Jacqueline Hunt, and Pam Haas. The many seals that these girls sold are helping to defray the cost of chest X-rays that the Murray students were given this year.

Best of luck to a swell kid but please don't grow any taller or it will cause you more to by your elbow. Please stand

Law and Order, Gaiety and Fun

- Dancing the light fantastic to the theme of "Dream" at the Junior-Senior Prom is a date to be remembered in our book of memories.
- The eagle eyes of the student police force at Murray keep an ever watchful lookout for students who violate cafeteria rules.
- Teaming up for their queen candidates are James Preus, Roy Milton, and Gail Sporley.
- Adding to the spirit of the Christmas season, members of the expression class and the "A" Choir stage a Christmas pageant.

Balance a Busy Year

- Dancing is enjoyed every Friday night at Murray's Teen Canteen. This recreational social center is a gathering place for boys and girls throughout the school year and during the summer months. Here they can forget a week of pencils and books and enjoy each others company, dancing, chatting over the coke bar, playing ping-pong, checkers, or other games.
- Gordon Tinker, Barbara Geddes, Georgia Cook, and Dan Neale, members on the board of Murray's Canteen, are busy planning for the year's activities. Posters and general advertising keep them busy. This year's co-chairmen, Beverly Bailey and Chuck Michaelson, have helped to make the canteen an inviting place for all teenagers.

What Is a Book Without Advertising?

If life is like a book, there must be a place for advertising. In this modern world advertising is a great business. To meet modern needs St. Paul's Department of Education includes in its curriculum a unit on "Learning to Use Advertising."

Alice Perrin and Ruth Tvedt, Murcurie editors, are doing just that as they listen to Miss Virginia McNamara explain her work as copy editor of Schuneman's, Inc. Not too long ago Virginia was an advertising manager of the Murray Murcurie.

Bing Thompson from Murray isn't the only one who enjoyed Marty O'Neill's colorful broadcasts sponsored by Howards Men's Store over WMIN. Stay-at-homes had an opportunity to follow their favorite football and basketball games as Marty described tense moments and exciting plays.

Super sleuths are Don Wilson and Dick Thomas as they not only get the "dope" but also "click" the victim. Johnson-Bacheller, Photographers, have helped these young camera fiends to follow a profitable hobby.

The Pilot Staff contributes a word or two to this business of advertising. (Haven't we advertised this book for nearly a year?) Thanks to everyone—friends, advertisers, printers, engravers, photographers.

You'll enjoy every day!

You'll enjoy every day of your training at Minnesota School of Business, one of America's finest private business schools. You will find many opportunities for making both social and business acquaintances of value to you in later life. There is a large faculty of helpful instructors—to offer you valuable counsel. We offer you intensive courses in all branches of business activity. Thirty-two class and lecture rooms—the finest and newest in machine equipment—student lunchroom in our own building.

Familiar to everyone at Murray is "Ken" Bacheller whose clever shots of activities in and out of school brighten the pages of many a memory book.

The photo of Don Wilson, Murray's ace camera man and one of "Ken's" right hand men, is what is called a study in lights and shadows.

The familiar studio, GOLLINGS, looks peaceful as Charlotte Read and Rosanna Vievering of Murray relax and consider what type of picture to order.

Do you remember the busy fall days when GOLLINGS was crowded day after day with seniors waiting their turn before the cameras? Here one met Centralites, Wilson friends, Marshall High students, and others bent on the same errand—for when it comes to superior photography, it's GOLLINGS.

First row: Priscilla Coulter, Marilyn Janneck, Eugene Tobias, Marylu Murphy, Carolyn Acton ★ Joan Coulter, Mary Atkinson, Beverly Bailey, Mary Sue Krebs, David Rutford, Jean Hoska, Dean Rasmussen, Mary Hart, Mrs. Helene Becker, Barbara Geddes.

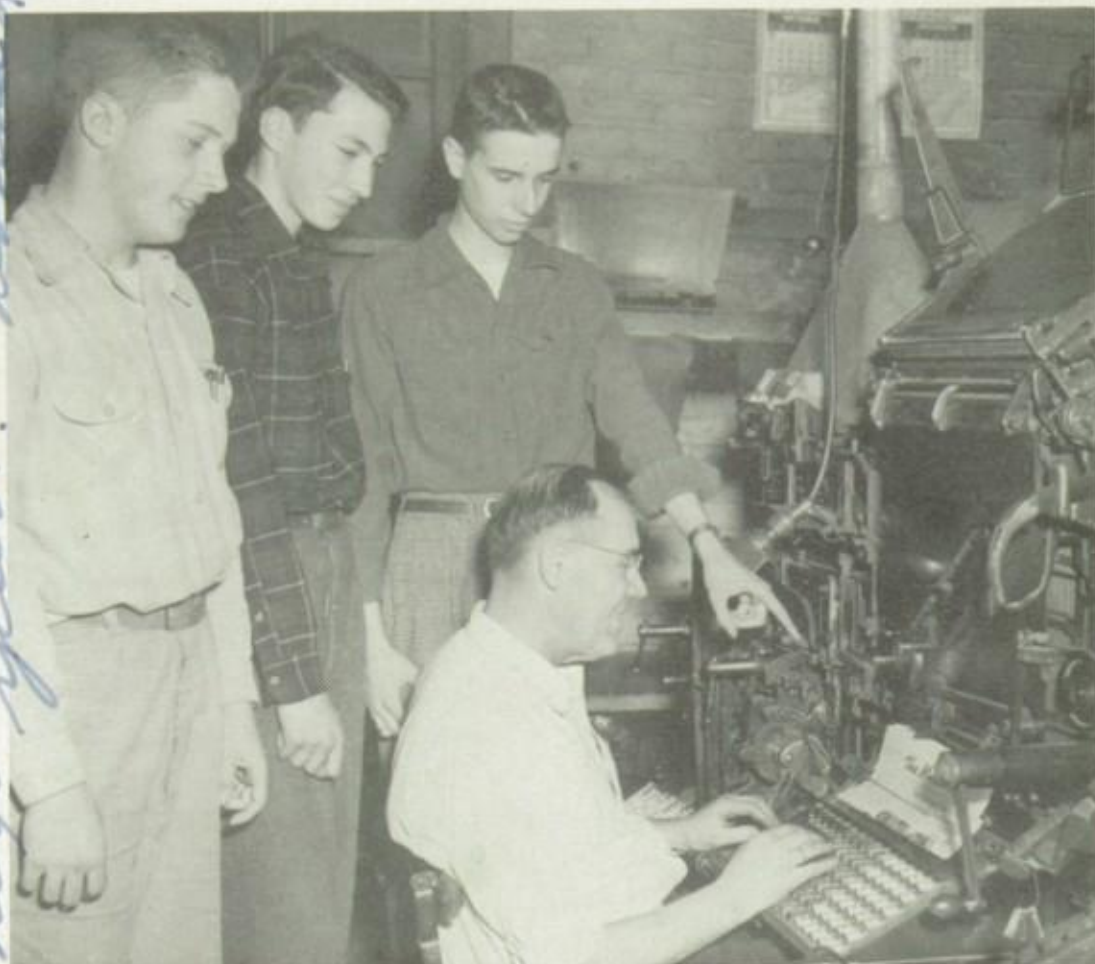

Early morning risers are these members of the Supply Store staff as they make ready to meet their public—Murray High School students. Come test day and the Student Supply Store Personnel find life very busy—pens, paper, note books, rulers, blotters, clips, and fillers go across the counter in exchange for the coin of the realm.

This store is maintained to help the students purchase necessary school supplies, and the profits are given to important school projects.

It's Just a Lin-o-type—

Business Managers take time out from the worries of debts and subscriptions to learn about the more concrete business of printing. Mr. Michael J. Mollner, linotype operator, explains his work as Paul Mielke, Roger Wood, and Don Ausemus listen and learn.

North Central Publishing Company is a familiar place to all St. Paul high school journalists as school yearbooks and papers are printed there. To all would-be journalists, the final mark of achievement is the day when they are allowed to make up at North Central.
